TWO HUNTERS DIE AS DUCK SEASON OPENS

Chicago Man and Waukegan Youth Victims in Tragedy

TWO ARE WOUNDED ON GRASS LAKE

Two hunters were killed and two were seriously wounded Saturday morning at Grass Lake and a score or more received minor wounds from stray shots at the opening of the duck shooting season.

The dead are:
Claudio Carter, 58 years old, 3041 Leland avenue, Chicago.

Norman Humphries, 13 years old, 441 Belvidere street, Waukegan.

One of the more seriously wounded was Harold Tribolt, 1455 North Crawford avenue, Chicago, who had his right eye shot out. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital, Chicago.

Another seriously wounded man was Samuel Barbara, 5544 Troy street, Chicago, who received a charge of shot in his face.

Young Humphries was in a boat with John Wagner, 34 years old, of 1729 Girard street, Chicago. Alongside this boat, and in another skiff, was his father, George Humphries, and his uncle, Frank Humphries, according to Deputy Sheriff Russell McBride.

Wagner asked young Humphries to reach into the back of the boat and hand him his gun. The lad drew it across the seat of the boat and it was discharged. He blew out the upper part of the abdomen. An inquest at the Holland morgue in Waukegan Monday afternoon held that the shooting was accidental.

Open Verdict in Carter Death.

The death of Carter remains a mystery following the inquest held at Strang's funeral home, as no witness could be found who saw the man shot. Deputy Coroner Maurice L. Penney advised an open verdict after the jury had agreed that death was accidental.

Five men were near Carter's boat when he cried out,

"I'm shot!"

They rushed to his boat and found him bleeding profusely at the neck.

Those near him at the time were William Klein and John Noreen, both of 6053 Byron street, Chicago; Willard Bystedt, Fox Lake; and Ira Simons and G. Geise, Antioch.

Both Carter and young Humphries were shot about 6:30 o'clock just after the signal for the opening of the season.

Several hundred hunters swarmed the lakes for the season's opening.

HOLD FUNERAL SERVICES FOR PAUL VOLK TODAY

Funeral services for Paul Volk, 54, of Channel Lake, were held this afternoon at the Strang Funeral Home, Antioch. Interment will be in Roseland cemetery, Chicago.

Volk for many years had figured prominently as a builder and real-estate operator in this locality where he was highly regarded.

He had been under the care of a physician for many months but his health failed to improve. Brooding over his illness and financial reverses is thought to have reduced him to a state of temporary insanity that led him to take his own life. According to the verdict of the coroner's jury, a self-inflicted gun shot ended his life at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

MEN'S CAUCUS GROUP IS A FEATURE OF "CRAZY POLITICS"

An outstanding feature of the great event "Crazy Politics" is the opening scene of the meeting of the all men's caucus of Centerville. These characters have been particularly chosen to represent a wide variety of types and well known groups of the American public today. Come out to the Antioch High School Auditorium Thursday and Friday nights, October 11 and 12 and vote the laugh ticket when you see Mayor George Bartlett as a Ward Heeler with a loud checked suit on. Also Dr. Roy Williams with his funny get-up, Mr. Frank Hamlin makes a fine Capitalist, and wait until you see Jim Stearns act!

Bill Nelson is the lead in the show and if you don't see him you have missed something. Homer La Plant is chairman of the People's Party and makes a rousing good speech as Mr. Froley.

The play is being put on by the Ladies' Guild of St. Ignatius' church of Antioch.

employed in the county and the county superintendent issued 864 teachers certificates. There were 684 pupils coming from non-high school districts.

The number of Superior Schools has been doubled since March 11, 1931. At that time there were 14 such schools in the county; now there are 28, and this achievement fulfills one of Mr. Petty's election pledges, which was that he would double the number of Superior Schools in Lake county. This large number far surpasses the number of Superior schools in any other county in the state.

Following are the Superior schools of the county: Bonnie Brook, Cedar Lake, Gavin, Gurnee, Hawthorne, Lake Villa, Lotus Country, Oakland, Saugertuck, Stearns, Wadsworth, Wilson, Oak Grove, Bannockburn, Beach, Drury Lake, Gage Lake, Round Lake, Russell, Spaulding, Wilmot, Lone Oak, Browne, Roundout, Oak Grove, Diamond Lake, Lake Zurich and the White school.

The following rural schools have been Standard since 1931: Avon Center, Courtney, Schultz, Waconda, Hainesville, and Monaville.

The rating of schools as Standard or Superior by the State Department of Public Instruction is applied only to rural and village schools having boards of directors. The larger elementary schools having boards of education are not so classified.

Improvement Where Needed
The policy of making improvements where most need is commendable. The one-room schools of the county have made a decided effort to give their children as nearly as possible the comforts, library equipment and modern conveniences of every sort which are given to the children of the schools. There were 716 teachers

FACILITIES FOR 1935 FAIR

Success of 11th Annual Showing Points to Growth

OFFICIALS PLEASED WITH CO-OPERATION

Increased facilities will be required at the 1935 Antioch County Fair to handle exhibits of live stock, vegetables and grains, officials announced following the close of the eleventh annual fair here Saturday. Far more entries could have been entered in the dairy cattle class if there had been accommodations, officials stated, and they were well pleased with the showing made in this new department.

"Far greater interest was shown in the dairy cattle exhibit than was expected," President Harold Minto said. "Next year the association hopes to provide for a greater number of entries, not only in this department but also in all agricultural products."

Especially well pleased were officials with the co-operation received from business firms and citizens generally who have come to recognize the Antioch fair as an established and worthwhile institution.

Judge Lauds Ag. Exhibit

The exhibit of farm and garden products was the largest and best that has ever been shown in this state, not even excepting the state fair exhibit at Springfield according to William Webb of Plainfield, who judged the local exhibit. More space is needed for this department, Webb said.

Showings in pantry stores, arts, poultry, horticulture, flower, domestic art and education departments had the usual number of entries. A list of the prize winners was not available for publication today, the secretary announced.

Big Poultry Show.
Always the biggest poultry show in northern Illinois, this department's year was up to standard, both in quality and number of exhibits. Rabbits and fur-bearing animals, new this year, also attracted many visitors to this department.

Antioch's first poultry show had 400 entries. At the 11th annual exhibition there were over 1,500 specimens in this department.

Style Shows Attract.
The style shows, always an attraction.

OCT. 16-30 SET AS REGISTRATION DAYS; GET ABSENT BALLOTS

Registration of Lake County citizens who did not vote at the spring primary or who have moved from their precinct since the primary will take place on October 16 and October 30. It was announced today by County Clerk Lew A. Hendee.

The registration will take place on those two days, so as to prevent each of the 75 precincts in the county the possible challenge of voters asking for ballots at the election on Nov. 6.

Persons who did not expect to be in the county or in their respective precincts to cast their ballot on Nov. 6, may now make application for an absent voter's ballot. The applications may be made by mail to the county clerk's office until five days before the election. The applicant must give his home address in Lake county and the precinct in which he is entitled to vote in his application.

THE ANTIOTH COUNTRY FAIR

The Antioch Country Fair afforded ample opportunity for the thoughtful citizen to renew his "community consciousness," to take stock of his own achievements and also those of his neighbors, and to enjoy the brief respite from his labors in viewing the advancements of the year in agriculture, horticulture, art, and the domestic sciences.

Amazing, indeed, was the agricultural exhibit coming at the close of the growing season in one of the worst drouth years in history. Displays indicated that there were grown, in some sections at least, not only quality products but bountiful crops. And the great diversity of products that can be grown successfully here makes Lake county in reality one of the garden spots of the world. The agricultural exhibit must have been encouraging to those who get their living from the soil.

The eleventh annual exhibition marks another milestone of progress and must be acclaimed a successful achievement. Officials and members of the association and all citizens co-operating deserve high commendation for their efforts.

THE PRINCIPLES OF GREATNESS

As nations go, the United States is a very young country. Where we have 150 years of history behind us, other powers have thousands.

Yet no nation can point to a more inspiring past—or to a history which has given finer traditions. America sprang full-fledged from the hearts and minds of that handful of patriots who dedicated their lives to freeing us from foreign monarchic domination, and to establishment of a Republic which should have as its guiding principles, freedom, equality, the right to own property and the right to happiness.

There is a growing danger that, in seeking to conquer the perplexities of the moment—"casual embarrassment" in the life of a nation, to use the great Jefferson's words—we shall lose or weaken some of those traditions which our forefathers bought for us with blood and toil and self-sacrifice. If we solve temporary troubles at the expense of permanent blessings, the victory will be hard won indeed. If we tamper with our ideal of freedom, the United States will have little to look forward to in the future.

Every American should resolve, with the deepest sincerity, to do all he can to cherish, to protect, and to continue those principles of freedom—freedom of press, of thought, of religion; freedom to do what we will so long as others are not injured by our actions—which have made our country the greatest of all great nations. In all the welter of experiment and criticism that envelopes the entire world, no one has been able to offer a plan of government that gives the ordinary man so much as does ours.

Are the Constitution of the United States and the Declaration of Independence—the greatest libertarian documents ever written—to become dead letters, or are they to continue to guide us in the future?

THE AVERAGE MAN

Who is the average American?

The question was raised recently by President Roosevelt in his Green Bay speech. "Those who would measure confidence in this country in the future," he said on that occasion, "must first look to the average citizen."

It has remained for the economist of a down-town firm to look into the statistics and tell us what manner of person this "average citizen" actually is . . . He appears to be not at all the dissatisfied anti-capitalist . . . He is a person who is gainfully employed the greater part of the time . . . Outside of the larger cities every second average man owns his own home. The average family has an automobile. Eight or ten million average citizens own stocks or bonds, and as depositors in our banks and holders of insurance policies four or five times that number are indirectly holders of securities.

"The average man," concludes the author of this little statistical study, "is a capitalist. He has no patience with socialism or communism as he understands these philosophies, though recently he has been taking doses of both under misleading labels."

It might be well . . . to keep these simple facts in mind . . . This average man cannot be very confident if he does not know that he is going to keep his job. He cannot be confident if he cannot count on the maintenance of the purchasing power of his income. He cannot be confident if he cannot look forward to a measure of security for himself and his family in his later years as a reward for hard work and thrift. And he cannot be confident unless he is assured that business is on the mend.—New York Herald Tribune.

TWO KINDS OF TAX REDUCTION

There are two kinds of tax reduction. One may be termed "political" tax reduction. This, the most common type, is characterized by financial sleight-of-hand which attempts to persuade the public that it is possible to lower taxes and at the same time spend more money. Its usual method is to give the citizen back one dollar to put in his pocket while smoothly taking two dollars out of another pocket. To provide a concrete example, it will lower taxes on real estate a bit, and at the same time boost taxes on income, or investments, or on commodities.

Then there is "real" tax reduction—a very rare type in these times. It appreciates the fact that there is one, and only one way by which government can reduce costs—spending less money. When government retrenches, eliminates waste, duplication of activity and unnecessary bureaus, the citizen gets honest tax reduction.

That is what the country needs now—and nothing could contribute more to the furtherance of recovery. Millions of dollars are going to the tax collector which, if released to private industry, would be used to provide jobs, to raise wages, to pay interest on securities, to provide industrial development. Industry is stagnant today. And the size of its tax bill, which is still growing, is as much to blame as any other item.

Every worker—whether he digs ditches or sits in an executive's chair—is vitally interested in this. Our whole national future is at stake.

KEEP THE HOME FIRES "FRIENDLY"

A "friendly" fire stays inside the stove or furnace where it belongs and serves to keep man comfortable. When fire escapes from confinement it becomes decidedly unfriendly!

How often fires do become unfriendly is emphasized in a report of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. "In 1932," it states, "fires caused by stoves, furnaces, boilers and their pipes, resulted in a property loss of $17,916,783. Another cause of fire, which is closely allied with stoves, is defective chimneys and flues. In 1932 fires originating in this way caused a loss of $24,702,201. A third contributing cause is hot ashes, coals and open fires, which accounted for a loss of $5,002,572. These three alone, with a total of $47,621,556, resulted in 11 per cent of the nation's entire fire waste that year."

Necessary precautions are simple: Make certain that the stove, furnace and smoke pipes are cleared of soot. Replace worn, broken or rusted-out parts. Keep burnable material away from smoke pipes or any other part that becomes extremely hot.

If you are the "fireman" in your house see to it that the stove or furnace does not become overheated—use common sense in operating the equipment and never force it. Use a metal container for ashes. Be sure that all open fires are carefully screened.

Efficient equipment and careful handling make for economy. Fires are a tremendous and needless expense, and everyone must help pay the bill.

THE are lamps circled and the music played and twelve thousand people seethed around. Half an hour still before the picture would begin; thirty minutes more of glare and blare and babbles, then another Garmel's Arabian theatre premiere would be history. I stood on the fringe of the crowd, watching and listening to it all. Out in front of the forecourt there was suddenly a commotion. Into the hanging microphone the voice of the announcer near me cried:

"Here it is, ladies and gentlemen—the big moment everyone's been waiting for. Miss Sylvia Malvern, the lovely star of tonight's picture, is just arriving. In a minute we'll have her here to say a few words to you."

Up the narrow cleared passage from the curb Sylvia made her glittering way. Jewels, fur, and her flashing smile created a picture of dazzling, if overdone, charm. As she passed a few feet from me I became aware of someone at my elbow, squirming and pushing forward. I glanced sideways with a scowl—and hardly stifled an explosion of mirth at what I saw.

There beside me stood a short, squat man whose face was the most absurd concoction of features I have ever looked upon.

I'd just gotten the full startling impression when, to my further astonishment, he grinned and waved at Sylvia Malvern. Moreover, she returned it with a gracious nod. Then she had passed on and I became aware that the fellow was regarding me, his blissful snarl still active.

"Gosh!" he exclaimed in a gurgling voice. "Ain't she grand?"

"Sure is!" I agreed heartily. "Do you know her?"

He bobbed assent and the pop eyes rolled happily.

"Oh, yeah—she's my best friend, really. Course I only met her couple o' weeks ago, but now it seems almost like we'd known each other always."

The perfect satisfaction in his tone decided me. I told him:

"That's certainly fine! I've wished for years I could meet her myself. How did you manage it?"

"Well, guess I was just kinda lucky. But it was awful important to me; maybe that helped. I think y' get 'most anything y' want bad enough."

Realizing that he was fully launched now and willing to talk, I suggested that we seat ourselves upon a small stone bench which stood beneath some pointed palms near by.

"So you were very anxious to see Miss Malvern, eh?"

"Gee, you bet I was!" he replied with something like a wistful note. "I see, she was the first person to ever make me feel real happy. Back when I went to school, all the other kids used to laugh and point at me and holler 'Funny-face!' So I got kinda in the habit of stayin' by myself. Sometimes I was pretty lonely, some, too, and—but aw, shucks, that sounds like I was feelin' sorry for myself; I didn't mean it that-a-way.

"I went to movies a lot 'cause it was dark in the theaters and—well, I liked 'em. One day 'bout a year ago I first saw Sylvia—Miss Malvern, that is—and right off I was crazy about her. Her face was so pretty and sweet and—and kind-lookin'. Guess I musta gone back to see that pitcher five or six times, and the same with all of hers after that."

After an instant's pause he went on more eagerly than ever:

"Then long some time last winter I got the idea how swell it'd be if I could see her herself, and maybe even talk to her. So I just up and sold some land my folks had left me and come straight out here from Cedar Hollow—that's my home town, in Iowa. I didn't have much notion what to do, but I found Zenith studio and hung around the gate. One day the man in uniform there asked me what I wanted and I told him, and he called somebody else. First thing I knew they was takin' me right into the place. I waited in some office just a few minutes, and then they told me where to find Sylvia.

"Well, it all turned out like I hoped for. We was alone, on the stage where she'd been actin' for this pitcher. I don't remember just what I said; maybe some of it was kinda foolish, on account of I was so nuts about her. But it don't matter now—all I care about is thinkin' how swell she was to me. I ain't never gonna forget that, and I'll never mind no more when other people make fun of me. All a fell needs is one real friend."

Suddenly he noticed many of the throng drifting toward the theatre entrance, and sprang up.

"Golly!" he cried. "I gotta go; I might miss some of it. Well, hope you meet her some time, too, G'bye."

Before I could summon' pose to move or speak, he was gone. I was still sitting there, pondering the tale and its strangely touching teller, when a crisp voice came to me from beyond the palms—the announcer signing off. Quite idly I listened.

"And finally, ladies and gentlemen," he said, "let me urge you to attend this truly great picture soon. I saw it in preview just last night, and it has everything: cast, story, songs, comedy—oh, what comedy! There's one skit I'm sure will be the season's biggest laugh. And they tell me it's absolutely novel; a scene in which the chief actor didn't even know he was appearing. Miss Malvern's with him, and makes it a grand stooge. Honestly, it's a panto, and only one of the high spots in a real four-star show. Thank you; good night."

LAKE VILLA VILLAGE
DADS MOVE INTO
NEW VILLAGE HALL*Woman's Club Holds First Meeting of the

The new Village hall is completed and ready for occupancy. The Village Board is now holding its regular meetings there. How about a house-warming to allow the public to see our new public building?

The Woman's Club held a very interesting meeting at the Ladies' Aid rooms last Tuesday to start the Club year. The president, Mrs. Maier, presided, and following the business session, introduced the Conservation chairman of the 10th District, Mrs. Handelan of Long Lake who gave a talk telling of interesting trees of various countries, which was very interesting. She also showed stereoscopic pictures of "Beauty Spots of Illinois," many of which were familiar to us, but none the less beautiful. Mrs. Handelan has enthusiasm and love for her work and is able to inspire enthusiasm in others, so is very well qualified for the position which she holds in the district.

Church services will be held here next Sunday at the usual hours and Rev. E. T. De Seims, the new minister appointed at the recent Conference at Sycamore will preach. He comes from Oklahoma City and will be glad to see you at the services. His wife and two daughters came with him on Monday and will occupy the parsonage.

T. B. Rhoades made another trip to his place at Minong, Wis., last week and this time will be gone for several weeks making improvements there.

Miss Mary Kerr visited her sister, Mrs. Alice Spring at Millburn last Saturday and Sunday and attended church services there on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Sherwood left last week Thursday for their winter home in Florida. A few days before their departure they entertained their family at a dinner at their home on Cedar Lake. The guests included F. R. Sherwood, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Sherwood and Don, also Mrs. Beatrice Sherwood and her children, Delbert, Howard, Bobbie, Frances and Alvin.

The Ladies' Aid Society held its regular meeting at their room below the Cafe last Wednesday and held election of officers. Mrs. C. Hamlin will act as president again, and Mrs. Pedersen is elected vice president. Mrs. Perry, secretary, and Mrs. Fred Hamlin, treasurer. Their annual report was given and considering the number of members and conditions which must be overcome, it was a good report but the ladies hope to do better next year. They will hold their next meeting at the same place next week, with Mrs. C. Hamlin and Mrs. H. Nelson as hostesses. You will enjoy the program being prepared by the committee and you are very welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Kerr and children, Jean and Jack, of Bloomington, Ill., came Friday evening for a short visit with Mr. Kerr's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Kerr. On Saturday, Edgar and his father attended the Wabash Fair in Chicago, and on Sunday they made the trip back home.

Wm. M. Weber was a business visitor in Chicago on Monday.

H. H. Perry, who is employed at Elgin, was home Saturday, and he and Mrs. Perry and daughters spent the day in Waukegan.

THURSDAY,

TOBER 11, 1934

Last Saturday Happy Schneider, Tony Carl Nader went to Waukegan list in the government reforestation and recovery camp and expect to be located near Glenview for a time at least.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Hooper and daughters spent Friday in Chicago.

Dorothy squinted constantly, until the reading lamp in her room was changed.

Avoid eye strain with proper light. Send today for our free lighting test of your home.

IN two out of three homes, say lighting experts, incorrect lighting threatens eyes. To protect eyes, 20 to 30 foot-candles of light should fall on the printed page. This should be properly diffused with no glare, no deep shadows, no contrast to cause eyes to change focus frequently. Under such lighting eye tension is relieved. Your body relaxes. Your nerves relax, too.

Many homes lack correct lighting

Most women would be only too glad to give their families the benefit of safe lighting; to protect the eyesight of their children. But they have no way of measuring the kind of light their lamps give. And so night after night eyes struggle unaided another night.

How to get it

In the last few years some wonderful discoveries have been made about proper lighting. Lighting engineers have found that just by changing the position of shades, by raising or lowering the height of bulbs, and by designing a special kind of "light reflecting" shade, these handicaps to eyesight are completely overcome. Your Public Service Store has a variety of these properly designed lamps for sale. They are beautiful as well as safe for eyes. Come down and see them and at the same time learn, from our better lighting display, simple and easy ways in which you can improve the lighting in your home. And get Free, a marvelous little device called "The Lighting Tape Measure," which enables you to tell quickly whether or not each lamp in your home is providing safe light. Act at once. Don't allow the eyes in your family to struggle unaided another night.

Which is YOUR lamp?

Lamp 1. Bulbs too low, sides of shade too sloping. Result—glare, deep shadows, eyestrain.
Lamp 2. Bulbs at right height, shade of correct design. Result—restful light, precious eyesight protected. FREE at your Public Service Store, "Lighting Tape Measure" to test your lamps. Get it today.

The committee met last week to formulate plans for the campaign. W. P. Shahan, executive secretary of the State Tuberculosis Association, was in Waukegan last Friday to discuss plans with local workers.

The Seal this year carries a picture of the Little Red Cottage built by Edward Livingston Trudeau 50 years ago as the first tuberculosis sanatorium in this country.

The monthly chest clinic sponsored by the Lake County Tuberculosis Association will be held on Tuesday, October 16, at the St. Therese Hospital, Waukegan, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

X-Ray Treatment For Thymus Enlargement, Physician States

Enlargement of the thymus gland caused the death of one of the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Garland, according to Dr. R. D. Williams, attending physician. Death of the infant occurred recently after a brief illness, and the diagnosis was confirmed by postmortem examination. An X-Ray examination of the other baby revealed the same condition and X-Ray treatment was started at once which is believed will save the baby's life.

"This condition is quite common, according to men who are making a special study of the problem," Dr. Williams says. "Despite the very considerable amount of work done, both in clinical and experimental research, the purpose of the thymus gland in the body economy has not been definitely decided. The thymus gland varies greatly in size, appearance, location, and relation to other important structures, and symptoms vary accordingly."

"The enlargement of the thymus develops oftenest in the first year of life, but sudden death from this cause has occurred in older children and even in adults."

"Some children, thus affected appear to be in perfect health but often these children are pale and rather listless. The important symptoms are shortness of breath, either short-time or continuous, suffocative attacks or audible breathing. These symptoms may disappear, or get worse, or sudden death may occur. Whenever such symptoms appear the X-Ray should be used to make a diagnosis. A high-powered machine with a very short exposure, probably not over one-thirtieth of a second is needed for a clear, unblurred picture. With a positive diagnosis, X-Ray treatment may be begun at once with assurance of success in most cases."

"Until the advent of X-Ray treatment the outlook for patients with enlarged thymus was very bad. Emergency treatment and surgery were attended by a high mortality. Such children were in constant danger of sudden death as a result of trivial infections such as colds or bronchitis or mere emotional excitement. They bore anaesthetics badly and some cases of suffocation in bed are in reality thymic deaths."

"Experience has shown that X-Ray treatment is the treatment of choice, and that it is sure and safe, unless it be in those desperately ill, where it offers the only hope. No bad effects follow its use in competent hands."

"Should the new born be X-Rayed for diagnostic purposes? This is a difficult problem in X-Ray work on which research workers are not agreed. Errors are frequent. Negative results may mislead. All babies that show abnormal color or breathing should be X-Rayed and X-Ray examination after the second month would be a valuable safeguard."

The Word "Scamp"
The word scamp originally signified a traveler, but three hundred years ago when a man traveled he generally had a good excuse for doing so, for few left home save when compelled, and to be a traveler was practically equivalent to being a rogue.

9 Elements in Christ's Time
Only nine of the ninety-two chemical elements were known before Christ—copper, gold, iron, lead, mercury, silver, tin, carbon and sulphur. No new ones were added until 1250, when arsenic, and in 1450 antimony were discovered.

city and village elementary schools. This is necessary if the one-room school is to survive, school authorities agree.

During the last two years the one-room schools of the county have steadily improved in modernizing their grounds, buildings and equipment. This has gone on at a surprising rate in the midst of depression. Forty-five of the 63 one-room schools are now equipped with electricity; 19 have oil burners, and with the exception of a very few, all schools have modern heating plants. Running water and drinking fountains are rapidly becoming common fixtures in the one-room school.

Petty Commands Teachers

Teachers' salaries in Lake county, as elsewhere, have been drastically cut since 1931, but with the beginning of the present school year slight advances have been noted. The amount of reduction in salaries has varied with the several districts in accordance with their ability to pay. The districts vary in wealth just as do individuals; thus some schools were able to pay more adequate salaries than others, while a few were unable to pay at all. The average reduction has been about 20 per cent. The average salary paid now in the one-room schools is $110 a month.

But there is hope for an upward trend in teachers' salaries, according to Mr. Petty. He said:

"It is expected that the trend of salaries will be upward from now on since the cost of living has begun to rise. In most communities the school boards and patrons are making heroic efforts to see that teachers receive their pay promptly. Approximately one-third of the teachers in the county have not been receiving their pay regularly. On one or two occasions teachers have had to resign because they could no longer continue without pay."

"No class of individuals nor any professional group has been more self-sacrificing and more heroic than the teachers of the county in the battle against the depression."

"It is very evident that the general public has been inspired by the sacrifice on the part of the teachers. The people have not lost faith in our public schools. A more equitable system of taxation is bound to be evolved which will give to the public schools its high place in our democracy, and to the teachers a just compensation."

"The enlargement of the thymus develops oftenest in the first year of life, but sudden death from this cause has occurred in older children and even in adults."

"Some children, thus affected appear to be in perfect health but often these children are pale and rather listless. The important symptoms are shortness of breath, either short-time or continuous, suffocative attacks or audible breathing. These symptoms may disappear, or get worse, or sudden death may occur. Naming Wall Street
Wall street owes its name to Peter Stuyvesant, who in 1652 as governor of the little Dutch settlement of New Amsterdam ordered a palisade built to the site to protect the town from invasion of the English. The last of the wall was removed in 1699 and both sides of the street were quickly built up.

Red Square in Moscow
Red Square in Moscow contains the curiously towered Byzantine St. Basil's, built by Ivan the Terrible. Along the side is the fortress of the Kremlin. Beneath the wall is the granite mausoleum in which Lenin's body is preserved. At the other end is the Russian museum.

Jingoism
Jingoism is an expression which arose in England during the ministry of Lord Beaconsfield, 1874-1880. The term was applied to those who wished Britain to take an aggressive foreign policy. It originated in a music hall song.

The women of the western part of the county will hold a card party on October 17 at the Lone Oak Inn, Bridge, bunco, 500 and pinochle will be played with awards going to the best scorers.

Communities of the western part of the county were well represented at the first joint meeting of the Young Men's, Young Women's and Women's Republican leagues held Monday night in Waukegan.

Among those attending the meeting from Antioch were Mrs. Carl Anderson, Jr., Mrs. Edmund F. Vos, Mrs. Eleanor Michell, Mrs. Dora Hattendorf, Mrs. C. K. Anderson, Carl Anderson, Jr., Albert Herman, William Hattendorf, Miss Grace Drom, Miss Hilma Rosing, Emil F. Hallwas and Stephen Pacini.

The nine members of the executive committee of the Lake County Young People's Democratic Club were selected from all sections of the county, according to an announcement yesterday by Thomas A. Pojunas, young Waukegan attorney, who was elected president of the organization by more than 100 delegates last week.

Charles Germak, Jr., was chosen as the Antioch member.

Volo members of the Lake County Woman's Democratic Club have extended a county-wide invitation to fellow-members to attend a card party in the Volo Recreation Club, Belvidere Road and Route 55, Friday afternoon, October 12th. Saturday, Oct. 13, the Democratic clubs of Fox Lake, Ingleside, Round Lake, Long Lake and the surrounding territory, stage their rally at Cedar Crest where the candidates will speak, announces James Lynch of Round Lake, chairman of arrangements for these groups.

Edison Disliked Decorations
Upon Thomas Edison's second trip to Europe the French Telephone company offered him a decoration which required that he wear a long sash. But the Ohlone flatly refused with the assertion that he couldn't "stand for that." Persuaded by his wife, he did however consent to wear the little red button of the League of Honor. But whenever he saw any American approaching he would slip the button into his pocket for fear, as he said, "they might think I am trying to show off."

Growth of Brazil
Brazil has an estimated population of nearly 45,000,000, and is growing at the rate of a million a year. It has more than half of all the people in South America. It has nearly one-half of the whole Latin population in the Western Hemisphere, from the Straits of Magellan to the Rio Grande. In area it is a couple of hundred thousand square miles larger than the United States without Alaska and the Philippines.

The Six Toughest
The six toughest plants in the United States are the cottonwood, rabbit bush, aromatic sumach, a shrubby penny-royal, a yucca and the peculiar gynnosperm, Ephedra. They are so hardy that they are able to maintain themselves in the White Sands of New Mexico, a deposit that is 98 per cent pure gypsum, located in an area virtually without rainfall.

Blonds Always Win
That men have always preferred blond hair is supported by a number of facts in history. One of the best indications is that in the heyday of wigs it was the blond ones that were at premium. The dark wigs were cheaper and made of horse or goat hair while the blond wigs were made of human hair.

"Fiddler's Green"
"Fiddler's Green" is the humorously imagined Elysian fields of sailors and vagabond craftsmen, where credit is perpetually good and there is always a lass, a glass and a song.

Carry Typhus Fever
It has been found that in addition to the oft accused rat the virus causing typhus fever is carried by mice and woodchucks.

eight consecutive terms—in the General Assembly of Illinois.

Mr. Church, who is known throughout the state as a vigorous fighter against high taxes and for clean government, is noted for the keen personal interest he takes in every man, woman, and child in his district. The thousands of his loyal supporters who elected him eight times believe that he is the right man to send to Washington because of his unusually broad business, legal, and legislative experience. They also know that Mr. Church will be their true representative in every sense of the word.

16 Years in Legislature.

Mr. Church, of the law firm of Church and Traxler, 10 La Salle Street, was born on a farm in Vermilion County, Illinois, on May 5, 1883. He lives at 300 Church Street, Evanston, with his wife and three children. He worked his way through the University of Michigan (A. B. 1907) and Northwestern University (A. M. and L. L. B. 1909). He has practiced law in Chicago for 25 years, and he is head of a firm which is given the best (av) rating by the Martindale-Hubbard Law Directory.

In 1916 Mr. Church was elected to the Illinois Legislature—without factional support—from the Sixth Senatorial District which comprises Evanston, Rogers Park, Ravenswood, etc. In 1930, when he was elected for his eighth consecutive term, he received the largest vote for representative cast in the entire state. He has served as chairman of the Committee on Judicial department and Practice and of the Elections Committee, and as a ranking member of the Judiciary, Revenue, and other important committees.

Forced Sanitary District Quiz

In his incessant and uncompromising fight against graft, inefficiency, and high taxes, Mr. Church forced the investigation of the Sanitary District payroll which resulted in the famous trial. He also introduced the bill to reduce the number of Sanitary District trustees from nine to three.

In summing up Mr. Church's legislative record the Civic Federation of Chicago says:

"He is entitled to credit for resisting political pressure and voting on behalf of the taxpayers."

Endorsement of Voters League

In 1932 the Legislative Voters League said:

A & P Stores Celebrate Anniversary

A & P Stores are celebrating their growth with Antioch by sponsoring a big Antioch week sale. They have done a good deal of planning in connection with this sale, and advance reports indicate that their specials are numerous. A & P as you know, was founded 75 years ago by George Huntington Hartford on Vesey St., New York City. However, since 1920 they have maintained a store here, and according to P. E. Chin, the local A & P manager, they are still following the precepts of the founder—notably bringing good food to the public at the lowest possible cost. Mr. Chin invites you to visit his A & P store this week.

he served the public with the same courage and fidelity which have characterized his entire career as a legislator."

A Chicago Tribune editorial of February 24, 1930, ranks Mr. Church as "one of the ablest and most reliable members of the Assembly."

These are only a few of the many good reasons why the leading citizens of the Tenth District are a unit in supporting Ralph Church to reelection as representative in Congress on November 6.

Snails Delicacy in France

Only Frenchmen consider the small a delectable dish. Their snail-culturists operate miniature farms where these mollusks are grown and fattened upon choice vegetables. The fastidious Parisian pays many a franc for this alleged delicious tid-bit.

Spain Gave U. S. Grapefruit
Grapefruits were introduced into Florida by the Spaniards as early as the Sixteenth century.

Basement Easily Made Into Recreation Room

Remodeling not too Costly; Room Should Be Light and Dry

There is no end to the possibilities for fun in the basement recreation room. Tables for cards, floors for dancing, cozy corners for reading, cupboard and serving space for midnight suppers—for steaming coffee and sandwiches, cheese and cakes. Remodeling Has Value in Terms of Economics.

Of course a recreation room is not the only use to which we can put an old basement. We can convert its waste areas into gymnasium, laundry, playroom, garage, or even an entire service unit.

The time is still with us when we can remodel any part of our house at an extremely reasonable outlay of dollars and cents.

As each man's house is his castle, so each family's problems are individual, and there is no standardized process to follow when it comes to reclaiming the lost lower regions of a house. We must know what we want and then make our plans; lay out a definite course toward a specific end.

If we want to present ourselves with a recreation room, an additional living room which may be used for many purposes and depended upon to take, without whimpering, a lot of rough usage, we can consider the window pane.

A basement room must be fairly light, have plenty of air and be free from dampness and odor. Where the windows are small they can be enlarged or new windows may be cut. Where there is dampness, the basement should be waterproofed. For artificial lighting there should be a ceiling light and also plenty of portable lamps. The lamps which afford indirect as well as direct lights are practical.

Shelves Should Be Built, Stairs Fortified.

While automatic heat helps a lot in reclaiming basement space, it is not a necessity. The furnace or boiler may be inclosed in a dust tight partition, if it is in too conspicuous a part of the basement.

If there are no shelves and cupboards in the recreation room these should be built. They can hold toys and games and books and dishes.

Stairs leading down to a basement should be in good shape. If they are rickety, new ones ought to be built. They should be well lighted so there is no danger of tripping; a good railing is insurance against broken bones. Rubber or composition treads are practical.

If there are any large cracks or broken places in the foundation walls, they should be filled. Smaller cracks ought to be painted.

Cement Paint Has Virtues

A couple of coats of good cement paint is a practical method of finishing the walls. These paints come in many colors. A light color is preferable as it brightens the basement. Sometimes a dark color paint is used for the first six or eight inches above the floor to give the effect of a baseboard. This also protects the light wall from splashes and dirt when the floor is being scrubbed.

There are cement paints which are a help in providing the walls with a dry coat wherever there is a tendency to dampness. Whitewash is an inexpensive treatment if one wishes to give the basement an appearance of ruggedness. And there are many varieties of insulating boards to be employed, painted or papered in attractive light reflecting colors. Some even may be left in their natural state.

The ceiling may also be white-washed, painted, or covered with insulating board or with a fireproof board. Where one wants to cover any unsightly piping, one can build a suspended ceiling which clears all the mains.

Concrete paint may be applied to the old floor. The floor must be clean and in fairly good shape. If a composition flooring is used, it should be heavy.

There are asphalt tile floorings of the resilient type which can be laid directly over cement resting on the ground. This is laid in an asphalt cement which is unaffected by ordinary dampness. The flooring comes in attractive colors such as Venetian red, apple and forest green, seal brown, golden tan, and various motifs shades.

Electric Outlets a Necessity

Inlaid linoleum may be laid directly on a basement floor if the latter is absolutely dry, and there is no likelihood of water damage.

PLAN KITCHEN LIGHT TO SHADE THE FACE

When planning the kitchen be sure the lighting is well planned. Plan not to face the light when working. The glare of the neighbor's concrete walk or house is very tiresome to the eyes of many people. A shade will shield you from such a light if it is impossible to arrange to have the window built in another wall. Plan to use as much natural daylight as possible, as it is not as tiring as artificial light.

Did You Ever Try These Recipes? Do, Please

Meat Loaf

½ pound veal
½ pound pork
1 pound beef
½ small onion, finely minced
½ teaspoons salt
1 egg, slightly beaten
½ cup milk
1 cup dry bread crumbs
4 slices salt pork
Parsley
Tomato sauce.
Put meat through a food chopper. Add seasonings, eggs, milk and crumbs. Mix thoroughly and shape into loaf. Place in an oiled baking pan and lay pork slices over the top. Bake in hot oven, 425 degrees, 15 minutes, then reduce heat to slow oven, 250 degrees. Baste every 10 to 15 minutes with fat that collects in bottom of pan. If too dry, add 4 ounces (½ cup) water. About 1¼ hours are required for cooking. Garnish with parsley and serve with tomato or white sauce. Serves six.

Be sure that fruits are served regularly for breakfast, as it is necessary to have sufficient fruit from October until spring if the family's health is to be maintained. Pears, grapes, oranges, grapefruit, apples, and the dried fruits offer variety.

Largest Lakes, Rivers

The ten largest lakes are Superior, 31,820 square miles; Huron, 23,010 square miles; Michigan, 22,000 square miles; Erie, 9,040 square miles; Ontario, 7,540 square miles; Great Salt Lake, 1,800 square miles; Lake of the Woods (Minn. and Canada), 1,500 square miles; Tular (artificial) 800 square miles; Okeechobee, 730 square miles; Pontchartrain, 625 square miles; Rivers: Mississippi-Missouri, 4,221 miles; Colorado, 2,000 miles; Rio Grande, 1,630 miles; Columbia, 1,270 miles; Arkansas, 1,400 miles; Ohio, 1,283 miles; Platte, 1,030 miles; Red, 1,275 miles; (last four tributaries to the Mississippi-Missouri system); Brazos, 950 miles; Tennessee, 930 miles.

The Double Cross

The double cross is known as the cross of Lorraine or the patriarchal cross, which dates back to the Ninth century, when it became the emblem of the eastern branch of the Christian church. It symbolizes hope and humanity and was adopted as the badge of the war against tuberculosis in 1902 at the International Conference on Tuberculosis in Berlin. In 1904 it was formally adopted as the emblem of the National Tuberculosis association.

Operated by Mouse Power

In the Nineteenth century, a man in Scotland perfected a machine that was operated by mouse power. Running in revolving cages, the mice manufactured sewing thread, twisting and reeling 20 feet a day, writes W. T. Hogue, Denton, Texas, in Collier's Weekly. The inventor was building a mill to use 10,000 mice when he died. Apparently he never realized the work involved in putting them in and taking them out of 10,000 cages each day.

Bahia, Great Cocoa Port

Bahia, once the capital of Brazil, is the great cocoa port of that country. The state of the same name produces as much tobacco as does Cuba. It also produced the largest diamond ever found—3,150 carats. Also, the sand is so full of minerals that it is worth $100 a ton.

Hood of any damp conditions arising. Otherwise a protective flooring should be put down first. Wood floors are nice if there are young people in the home who want to dance frequently.

Ample electrical outlets are an advantage in a basement room, and a toilet and shower are practical assets.

In any remodeling project the chief aim should be to preserve as much of the old as possible, increasing at the same time not only the room's financial value but its working capacity and its good looks. We want to improve it as we want to improve ourselves. It try to make the most of it as we try to make the most of ourselves—for therein lies the only real satisfaction.

Days For Parties Are Here Again

Autumn Weather Arouses Hospitable Instincts; Food a Factor

The first brisk fall day is a signal that it is time to get out the very best table linen, polish all the company silverware, and prepare for a party. It may be a long delayed bridge game or any of the other "winter sports" which have given way to outdoor entertainment during summer months.

But whatever the entertainment, refreshments are always in order. Here is a suggestion for a party salad.

Molded Veal Salad
2 cups cooked veal, cut in small cubes
1 tablespoon gelatin
½ cup cold water
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup pimento
1 cup mayonnaise
Soak the gelatin in cold water and dissolve over boiling water. Add to salad dressing. Fold in the veal, celery, and pimento and more dressing if necessary. Turn into a large or small individual molds onto lettuce cup and garnish with fan pickles and radish roses.

This recipe makes enough salad to serve six. It may be increased to the number desired.

Types of Clouds

The principal types of clouds include Cirrus—detached cloud of delicate appearance, generally white. Cirro-stratus—thin sheet of whitish cloud. Cirro-cumulus—mackerel sky. Alto-cumulus—large rounded masses, white or grayish. Alto-stratus—dense sheet of gray or bluish cloud. Stratocumulus—large lumpy masses or rolls of dull gray cloud. Nimbus—dense layer of dark cloud with ragged edges from which steady rain or snow usually falls. Cumulus—"woollypack" or "cauliflower cloud." Cumulo-nimbus—thunder cloud or shower cloud—great masses of dark cloud rising in form of mountains or towers.

Egypt's Mickey Mouse

Among Egyptian records over 3,000 years old have been found drawings on a scrap of papyrus of a cat acting as a gooseherd, with a hooked stick, and with geese waddling along under the cat's control—the equivalent of the Mickey Mouse of today.

NANKING 'WORKSHOP' OF CHINA'S AFFAIRS

New Capital Is Attaining World-Wide Notice.

Washington—"Nanking is making itself heard round the world as the new capital of China. Although Peiping, the old northern capital, may be the buy window of China's international relationships, Nanking is the workshop," says the National Geographic Society. "But because huge sums are expended by the nations in maintaining established embassy quarters at Peiping, it is unlikely that these will be moved to Nanking for some time."

"However, Russia's embassy is at Nanking, and it is represented by a consular office at Peiping; the British and French have diplomatic establishments in Nanking which are subsidiary, respectively, to embassies and legation at Peiping; the Japanese maintain consular offices at Nanking, branches of their legation at Peiping; and the office of the American consulate general at Nanking is a busy branch of the American legation at Peiping.

"Thus, because of its importance as China's capital city; its location, 210 miles inland on the south bank of the Yangtze river, backbone of Chinese commerce; its proximity to Shanghai's revenues; its comparative nearness to Canton; and its freedom from too intimate association with the Manchus, Nanking is becoming a more and more important factor in the story of new China.

Beautification Plans.

"Blue prints of extensive beautification plans for Nanking are being studied by the national government. Development of the area near Sun-Yat-Sen's tomb, outside Nanking's 22-mile wall, is progressing rapidly. Like pouring new wine into old bottles, an American builder is pouring cement into Chinese forms to achieve an occidental-oriental style of architecture for China's new capital. A New York architect has insisted that his employers, the national government, preserve China's characteristic form—hence many of the new buildings at Nanking are multiple-storied pagodas of cement. The government recently completed construction of the first of these new-style buildings, a seven-story cement pagoda.

"They are signs of the times, these new buildings. Nanking is growing up, stirring again with power it once knew as China's capital under the Mings. After the Mings, Peking (now Peiping) became the Chinese capital, and the world almost forgot Nanking. But with the infusion of new life into the republican form of government in 1928, China again chose more centrally located Nanking as the seat of government. Today some 650,000 residents double the 1929 population, watch Nanking bravely seek a place beside London, Washington, Paris.

"Besides erecting many modern buildings, such as the new central hospital, the ministry of railways, and the ministry of communications, Nanking is laying roads—aspalt roads and good ones. Approximately 100 miles of wide asphalt boulevards wind in and out of the city. The Nanking-Shanghai highway, of macadam and dirt, will be finished within a year. It will link the capital more closely to China's financial and commercial seaport metropolis. A government railway connects Nanking with Shanghai (eight hours), and with Peiping (about 30 hours). River steamers take travelers to Shanghai and to Hankow and beyond.

City is Air-Minded.

"Nanking is air-minded. Its skies buzz with the roar of American-made propellers on American planes. China's National Aviation company, in which an American stockholder, maintains a daily flight schedule between Shanghai, Nanking, Hankow, Chungking, and Chengtu. Weekly schedules are flown by ships of the Eurasia Aviation company (Sino-German) between Shanghai, Nanking, Loyang, Peiping, Sian, Lan-chow, and Tihwa, capital of Sinkiang.

"No great industrial establishments will be found in the new capital, but Nanking brocades, made by individuals in their homes, are world-famous. The Chinese in this region are farmers, small-shopkeepers, government employees, soldiers, policemen, hotel keepers,rickshaw-pullers, carriage and taxi drivers, or ordinary laborers. Much cotton is made cloth by individual weavers.

"Co-operation on the part of the United States has meant much to Nanking's progress. The city shelters approximately 300 American, 80 British, and 40 French residents. American oil and steamship companies maintain offices there and Chinese agents handle an appreciable number of American automobiles and radios. Over Nanking's streets roll approximately 200 privately-owned automobiles, 90 per cent of which are American-made."

Antioch Fair --

tion at the fair, this year drew better than ever because there was also a style show for men. The parade of fashions in the auditorium Friday and Saturday was staged by Marianne's Dress Shop, Antioch, and Otto S. Klass, Antioch clothier.

Modeling women's apparel were: Virginia Tidmarsh, Jean Abt, Rose Pedersen, Mrs. Fred Stahmer, Mrs. Hugh Galbraith, Mrs. Robert Wilton, Grace Pedersen, Mrs. Ed Vos, Mrs. George Wagner, and Mrs. Clarence Shultz. Mrs. Hans Von Holwede assisted the models.

Good Attendance
Gate admissions at the 11th annual fair indicated an attendance equal to if not greater than at any previous fair. There were about 7,000 admissions, the secretary reported. Probably the largest attendance was on Friday when 3,000 admissions were reported during the day and evening.

Due to the depression, the paid concessions and stands did not do so well this year as in former years, but this only indicates what conditions are throughout the country.

Financially the fair was the usual success, a partial checkup of results discloses, and this fact is encouraging to officials. During the eleven years of its existence the Antioch fair has not lost money—a unique record in these times.

Emmet King, secretary of the association, voiced the sentiment of all officials when he stated: "I don't see how the Antioch fair can help growing and increasing in interest each year, just as it has in the past. Next year the association will make plans to take care of even a greater showing than was seen here this year."

A complete list of prize-winners and a report of the fair will be available within the next few days, the secretary stated.

GRADE SCHOOL NOTES

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Classes and Clubs Are Active at Fair

The class and club projects carried on in connection with the Antioch Country Fair proved to be worthwhile even though the profits made were not great. The freshmen had a booth selling hamburgers, coffee and taffy apples. The sophomores sold food in the high school cafeteria. The juniors sold candy, cracker jack and pop at a booth, and they also sponsored a dance inside the building with excellent music furnished by an orchestra composed of seven high school students. The seniors presented a play, "Wienies on Wednesday," and had a slideshow. Rodney Jacobs, one of the boys who had a part in the play given by the seniors, suffered a slight accident on Saturday, which prevented him from appearing in the play on Saturday afternoon, but he was well enough to appear on Saturday night. The Future Farmers Association boys sold hot dogs, coffee, and ice cream.

Antioch High School

Exhibit Wins

The high school exhibit was taken over by the Future Farmers Association this year, and was based on the potato project carried out by Warren Sheehan. The exhibit won first place and the prize of fifteen dollars for the F. F. A.

Coming Up; Junior Play

The Junior play, "Regatta," a romantic comedy in three acts, by Ruth McKenna, is under way and will be given at the High School Auditorium, Thursday and Friday nights, November 8 and 9.

Local School Wins

at Antioch Fair

The Antioch Grade school won first prize for elementary school exhibit at the Antioch fair last week. The prize money the school has received in the last three years will be used to purchase a radio. Wiring for radio installation was put in the new building when constructed several years ago and it is hoped that a type of radio can be found that will permit use of this wiring.

GRADE TEAM WINS

FROM GURNEE, 19-15

The Grade school baseball team continued their perfect average of all victories and no defeats by winning over the Gurnee team Tuesday afternoon, 19 to 15. Antioch boys in the line-up Tuesday were: Roger Williams, Robert Strang, Charles Hostetter, Roger Brogan, Windsor Dalgard, Billy Techert, Francis Pacini, Steve Wasko, Jimmie Harvey, Henry Quedenfeldt, Bob Burke, Gordon Knott, Virgil Horton.

The last game of the fall series will be played Friday afternoon with the Gavin school team as opponents. The local boys expect to wind up the series with a perfect average for the six games.

State Inspector Here

The grade school was visited yesterday by Assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction Floyd T. Goodler, who is inspector of all elementary schools having a board of education, that is a seven-member board. This is an official inspection by the state office and the local board will receive a report of the visit with any recommendations Mr. Goodler may have to make.

FIRST P. T. A. CARD PARTY NEXT TUESDAY

The Antioch Parent-Teachers' Association will hold the first card party of the season at the Grade School next Tuesday night, starting at 8 o'clock. Bridge and "600" will be played. The admission will be 35 cents.

CHANNEL LAKE SCHOOL NOTES

The Parent-Teacher's Association of the Channel Lake school will give a Hallowe'en masquerade party on Tuesday, Oct. 23rd, at the school house. A fine of ten cents will be imposed upon those not appearing in costume, although a mask can constitute a costume. Mrs. Paul Chase is giving prizes for the best feminine and masculine costumes. Cards will be played from eight until ten o'clock, after which there will be a party with Hallowe'en games and refreshments.

Five members of the Channel Lake school P. T. A. attended the district council of the Illinois Congress in Evanston last Friday. A great deal of inspiration for their work was aroused by this council.

An effort to increase the children's loan library of the school has met with some success, but gifts of children's books are earnestly requested. Those few in the library at present are in constant use and such a gift will be fully appreciated.

This year's president, Mrs. Thomas Runyard, has inaugurated an "Outgrown Clothing" shelf in the school. This is proving to be popular and in much demand.

Barcelona Is Aged

The foundation of Barcelona, Spain, is attributed to Hercules, 400 years "to a day before Rome was born." Its known history dates back several centuries before Christ. It was here that the first steamship was launched in 1843. It was propelled by two steam-driven wheels and attained a speed of three miles an hour.

Consistency of Moss

Moss is any bryophyte plant of a certain class characterized by the small, leafy, often tufted, stems bearing the sex organs. Mosses are found in all parts of the world growing on earth or rocks, the bark of trees, or, rarely, in streams. Unlike the mold organisms, they do not generally require an organic host.

Roman Theater in Germany

Further excavations of the Roman theater discovered at Hedderheim, near Frankfurt, in 1928, has established that it was a soldiers' theater, built probably about the end of the first century of our era. It is the first Roman soldiers' theater found in Germany.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Drunkard" at Gateway Theatre

Another entertainment scoop has been scored by the Kenosha Gateway Theater with the booking of Shobe & Bell's production of "that great moral drama" "The Drunkard," for one day only, Wednesday, Oct. 17th.

"The Drunkard" was originally presented in 1843 by the master showman, P. T. Barnum. It was revived some two years ago in Los Angeles where it has been an outstanding smash for the past two years. So great was its success, that Paramount incorporated this show in the W. C. Fields picture, "The Old Fashioned Way."

Audiences are invited to come cheer the hero and hiss the villain, who tries to wreck the lives of the young lovers in his attempt to steal a fortune.

In addition to the presentation of "The Drunkard," the Gateway Theater will offer a vaudeville program which includes Kathleen Fitz, The Dorans, Tom De Graffenreid, Jerry Ross, John Wagner and Bob Regent. "Picture Brides," a drama replete with thrills and romance will headline the screen fare.
